Dear Choir,

Thank you more than I can say for a wonderful Easter Service yesterday - your singing was full of energy and life, and the joy of the new life we are all granted by our loving Heavenly Father/Mother! Peggo Hodes commented on how well the choir negotiated the phrases in "How Lovely" without my being able to direct completely since I was playing the accompaniment at the time. Thank you for helping be an uplifting factor for so many on this most important of all days in the Christian calendar!

I now must start "all over" to prepare for the next period of time - I'll fill in these details over the next few days.

I will be putting together a setting of an e e cummings poem suggested by Becky Field for the "green" service noted below. More complete info on this service this coming Thursday evening.

There is a "green" service/choir program scheduled for April 12 which is a Saturday. Check the Tentative Schedule link to the left. Frank Irvine has requested all of our help in this special observance of Earth Day - we are actually hosting other choirs here in our own Sanctuary that day. Do make a note of this on your calendars.

Peace,

Mark
